The track had dried out to perfection and the weather was everything that the horseowner and race-goers could wish for.

The sport began with a six-furlong dash for three-year-olds and others. Airplant was a strong favorite, and Mike Dwyer made one of his old-time plunges. He won, but by a very narrow margin. Peruvian, an outsider, should have won, but his jockey, Littlefield, essayed to ride a finish with Taral, and, as is the case with any one who attempts this feat, he got beaten. Taral rode a grand finish. Stalactite just nipped Flavilla for thick like.

Tournament's Faint PLATTOUT Riding, Lost the Race.

Mendicant Proves Herself to Be a Very Fast Filly.

Tournament, the faint-hearted and cowardly son of Sir Modred, made his first appearance of the season yesterday. He was plunged with $1,000 upon to an extraordinary degree and went to the post a hot favorite over Fairy, Russell, Madstone, Tormentor and others, Jockey Tony Hamilton rode him. Tournament lost the race, and Hamilton was most unjustly abused by these who lost their money on the horse. In view of ail circumstances Hamilton was not to biame for Tournament's defeat. The stories of his turning in the saddie and jeering at Garrison are ridiculous The horse would have performed no better with any other jockey up, for Hamilton is admittedly one of the most skilful riders in the country. He has his streaks of bad luck, it is true. The same can be said of other jockeys. The writer has seen Garrison, Taral, Bergen Stakes; the unbeaten Bonnie Lee coit, the crack Western coit The Reaper, Frieze and other cracks were billed to meet.

Tenny, the great swayback, who is still a public idol, was named to start in the second public idol, was named to start in the second event, and St. Florian and Locohatchee were to go in the Bowling Brook Handicap. With such a list of races it is no wonder the crowd turned out in great numbers, for the racing promised to be most excellent.

The track had dried out to perfection and and others ride like shoemakers at times, but ilton had he gone on, that the boy was crazy in exposing the horse's form. The truth of the matter is that Tournament is the rankest coward that ever stood on four legs. Then Tournament stopped so suddenly that in three or four jumps Mad-stone had made up the gap and had won by feat, he got beaten. Tarai rode a grand finish. Stalactite just nipped Flavilla for third place.

A round of applause greeted Tenny when he came to the post in the second race. The swaybacked coit looked well and many a bet went on him for old-time sake. Strathmeath was the favorite on reports of great work done by him, while Tenny was second choice. Pickpocket was also well played. Reckon was the outsider because of her poor porformances. This jade, however, felt in good humor, and running like a deer all the way won in hand.
